

Society

PERFECT weather, a wonderful moon, the inspiring environment of the Country Club, sympathetic music, beautiful gowns, sparkling eyes—all these things tended to make the dance given on Wednesday by the commandant and officers of the naval station in honor of the officers of the New Zealand the most brilliant affair of the week. The pretty little clubhouse was in gala attire and presented a scene of such charm and beauty as well may be remembered by those who were present. The pillars and treises were surrounded and hung with palms and bamboo, while from the chandeliers and ceiling hung long sprays of golden shower. The archways and windows were draped with American, English and flags of all nations. Tents were erected on the lawn in front of the clubhouse in which an appetizing repast was served later a la buffet. The entire place was brilliantly illuminated with strings of electric lights which sparkled like diamonds upon the festive scene.

Unlike most formal functions, the spirit of fun prevailed, and it was in the wee sma' hours when the last guests—with visible reluctance—tore themselves away. Dancing followed immediately upon the brief reception, and so quickly was the ice broken that after the first two or three dances, the last vestiges of formality had disappeared. Both English and American guests joined in the fun of ragging, and all varieties from the one-step to the turkey trot were attempted.

The most distinguished visitor present was Her Majesty, Queen Liliuokalani, who attended the ball in honor to Prince George of Battenberg. This is the first time since the overthrow of the monarchy that the queen has attended any function other than very private affairs given by personal friends. It is needless to tell of the pleasure with which every one witnessed her arrival, and of the desire that Her Majesty would grace further occasions with her presence.

Guests were received by Lieut. L. M. Stevens of the navy, who in turn presented them to Admiral C. B. T. Moore and the ladies of the receiving line—Mrs. John T. Myers, Mrs. Richard Cutts, Mrs. Rentiers, Mrs. Harry Green, Mrs. W. C. Wise, Mrs. Samuel Gordon, Mrs. Ernest Gayler, Mrs. L. M. Stevens and Mrs. A. B. Owens.

The uniforms of the officers of both countries, with their glamor of white and gold, helped make the ballroom very attractive. And the gowns were beautiful. Mrs. Myers, who in the absence of Mrs. C. B. T. Moore, was at the head of the receiving line, wore a lovely frock of peach colored charmeuse with soft toned chiffon and touches of gold.

Mrs. Richard Cutts was in turquoise blue satin with real lace.

Mrs. Rentiers wore a beautiful gown of white satin and lace.

Mrs. Harry Green was in white with draperies of orange colored chiffon.

Mrs. W. C. Wise was in old rose colored charmeuse with touches of net on the bodice.

Mrs. Samuel Gordon was stunning in a gown of white chiffon over black lace with touches of old rose and black.

Mrs. Ernest Gayler wore a charming frock of yellow satin and gold.

Mrs. L. M. Stevens was in a beautiful gown of black lace over white satin with girdle and panel of dark red velvet, and rhinestone trimming.

Mrs. A. B. Owens wore a handsome gown of pale blue brocade and real lace with exquisite coral ornaments.

Mrs. Frederick Funston was in black over white, en pallot, with touches of blue tulle on the bodice.

Mrs. Alexander Hawes Jr. was stunning in her gown of cerise colored satin with an overdress of beautiful Spanish lace and pearl ornaments.

The Princess Kawananakoa wore an exquisite gown of rose point lace over yellow charmeuse with trimmings of sable. Beautiful diamonds gave the finishing touch to this lovely toilette.

Mrs. A. G. M. Robertson, president of the Ka Ahahui o na Pua o Hawaii Club. She gave a delightful Hawaiian afternoon on Wednesday.

Mrs. E. Timberlake was beautiful in a gown of white satin and chiffon with touches of old blue.

Mrs. Charles Chillingworth wore a stunning gown of lavender charmeuse with rhinestones and orchids.

Mrs. Francis Mills Swanzy wore a dress of cream colored lace over satin.

Mrs. George W. Bailey was gowned in a beautiful Callot model—black lace over flesh pink charmeuse with splashes of old blue catching the draperies.

Mrs. Edith Williams wore a striking gown of ecru colored chiffon trimmed with brown fur.

Mrs. D. B. Case was in black lace over white.

Mrs. Reed wore a charming gown of white chiffon over satin made in the popular Grecian effect.

Mrs. Jessie Kennedy wore seafoam green crepe chiffon over crepe meteor with silver lace and rhinestones.

Mrs. Bertha Kopke was in black peau de sole.

Mrs. Nora Swanzy was in white with draperies of old rose colored chiffon falling from the shoulders.

Mrs. Beatrice Castle was in white.

Mrs. M. T. Clegh was in pale blue satin with lace and pearls.

Mrs. Emmet May of Los Angeles wore a handsome gown of white lace over satin.

Mrs. Elizabeth Ferrier was attractively dressed in goblin blue chiffon over white satin.

Mrs. William C. Hobdy was in blue satin and lace.

Mrs. Irwin Shepherd was in white.

Mrs. Gustav Schaefer was in green satin and gold.

Mrs. H. F. Nichols was in cerise

—for which the mountains of Oahu had been ransacked—was presented to Queen Liliuokalani, who attended the affair as one of the honorary members.

Music was furnished by the Likolehua Glee Club—old, old native ballads that are almost forgotten even by the kamaaina—and occasionally a modern hula to which the guests all danced. Then there was singing by the members of the club—and the songs they sang were of the days of the monarchy when the people lived in houses of grass and a haole was a wonderful curiosity. There was Hawaiian dancing, too, old-fashioned hulas, by dark-eyed maids whose suppleness of limb was certainly something to marvel at. Exhibitions followed of arrow shooting, spearing and other ancient Hawaiian sports. When finally Hawaii Ponoi was sung, the guests took their departure with a reluctance-born of an intensely interesting afternoon.

The hostesses on this occasion were the members of the club—Mrs. A. G. Robertson, Mrs. Carlos Long, Mrs. C. R. Chillingworth, Mrs. A. Constable, Mrs. E. Bennett, Mrs. Robert Hair, Miss Edith Williams, Miss Ethel Whiting, Miss Henrietta Smith, Mrs. Dominis, Miss Agnes Buchanan, Miss Callie Lucas, Miss Lucy Ward, Miss Kulamann Ward and Mrs. Robert McEldowney and the honorary members, Her Majesty Queen Liliuokalani, Mrs. B. F. Dillingham, Mrs. Coney, Mrs. Lauke, Mrs. Webb, Mrs. Nakuina, Mrs. Ward, Mrs. F. A. Schaefer, Mrs. Henriques, Miss Lucy Peabody and Mrs. Sam Allen. Those who sang during the afternoon were Mrs. C. L. Hall, Miss Agnes Buchanan, Miss Edith Williams, Mrs. A. G. M. Robertson, Miss Callie Lucas and Miss Ethel Whiting.

Those invited to this delightful entertainment were the captain and officers of H. M. S. New Zealand, Princess Kawananakoa, Mrs. Kirkaldy, Miss Reynolds, Mrs. Clarence Cunha, Miss Mary Low, Miss Ethel Carter, Mrs. D. Dowsett, Mrs. Ferdinand Hows, Mrs. C. F. Chillingworth, Sr., Mrs. Ellen Dwight, Miss Irene Dickson, Miss Ida Pope, Miss Emma Cooley, Lieut. and Mrs. F. P. Jackson, Miss Hazel Benton, Miss Frances Wither, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Boylan, Major and Mrs. Timberlake, Mrs. William McKay, Mr. C. Benton, Mr. Samuel Chillingworth, Capt. and Mrs. W. P. Gibson, Capt. and Mrs. James E. Bell, Capt. and Mrs. Walter Johnson, Capt. and Mrs. Richard Cutts, Miss Florence Hoffman, Mrs. James Jaeger, Mr. and Mrs. J. Boyd, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Schaefer, Mrs. MacDonald, Mrs. Doyle, Miss Doyle, Mrs. A. Lackland, Mrs. E. Farmer, Mrs. Gustav Schaefer, Mrs. E. M. Watson, Miss Genevieve Bradley, Miss Christiana Bradley, Mrs. Gullek, Mrs. Norries, Mrs. Nakuina, Mrs. Colburn, Mrs. Webb, Mrs. Mana, Mrs. Lord, Miss Root, Mrs. A. E. Murphy, Miss Thelma Murphy, Mrs. Dillingham, Mr. W. Lymer, Mrs. C. L. Hall, Mrs. Charles Lucas, Capt. and Mrs. John Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Gay, Mr. Ernest Gay, Mr. and Mrs. Allison Jordan, Dr. and Mrs. Baker, Miss Alice Corbett, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Cartwright, Miss Ethelwyn Castle, Professor and Mrs. George Meade, Mr. and Mrs. Harding, Mr. G. P. Castle, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Castle, Mr. and Mrs. C. Hedemann, Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit Wilder, Mr. and Mrs. W. Westerfelt, Miss Eunice Pratt, Miss Sara Lucas, Miss Helen Girvin, Mr. Tilly, Mr. T. P. W. Grey, Mr. J. Sinclair, Gov. and Mrs. Walter Frear, Mr. and Mrs. George Davies, Miss Margaret McIntyre, Miss Hester Lemon, Miss E. McIntyre, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Swanzy, Miss Nora Swanzy, Miss Rosamund Swanzy, Mr. and Mrs. George Beckley, Mr. and Mrs. August Dreier, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shingle, Mr. and Mrs. George Sherman, Mr. R. Carter, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McIntosh, Lieut. C. K. Lyman, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Douthitt, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Coke, Miss Gertrude Wilson, Miss Winifred Wilson, Miss Johnson, Mr. Robert Hair, Mr. and Mrs. Rentiers, Mrs. Andrew Brown, Miss Mabel Phillips, Mr. J. A. Dominis, Miss Rose O'Is, Mr. and Mrs. George Smithies, Miss Ella McNerny, Miss Miriam Stacker, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hopkins, Mr. C. A. Brown, Mr. A. G. M. Robertson, Miss Margaret Dietz and many others.

Mrs. Rentiers' Tea.

One of the most delightful affairs of the week was the informal reception and dance given on Tuesday afternoon at the Country Club by Mrs. Rentiers, wife of British Consul Rentiers, in honor of the captain and officers of H. M. S. New Zealand. The pretty little clubhouse was unusually attractive in its decorations of yellow and green, palms and ferns and sheafs of bamboo branches were arranged artistically about the bird lanais and dancing room, while beautiful sprays of golden shower cascaded from the trellises and chandeliers. In the dining room, banana palms with whole bunches of bananas suspended therefrom were used as a most effective tropical decoration, while the individual tables at which tea was served were adorned with dainty leis.

In the dress as usual, lovely crimson tuxis were used, their brilliancy tempered with ferns and green foliage. The decorations were under the management of the Misses Bortice and Gladys Halstead and great credit is due them for the charming appearance of the clubhouse.

Mrs. Rentiers received at the entrance of the music room. In the line with her were Mrs. Frederick Funston, Mrs. W. L. Stanley, Mrs. Francis Mills Swanzy, Mrs. L. Tenney Peck and Mrs. E. Faxon Bishop. Assisting her were also Miss Anna Danford, Miss Elancho Soper, Miss Rennie Carlton, Miss Margaret Carlton, Miss Maude Jordan, Mrs. Robert Luce, Miss Greenfield, Miss Victoria Jordan, Miss William McIntyre and Mr. Charles Herbert. Dancing was enjoyed during the afternoon to the music of a good Hawaiian orchestra—and it is needless to say how much the guests of honor appreciated the attractive melodies and ragtime tunes sung in our own Hawaiian fashion. The reception was marked with an informality and spirit of fun most unusual in affairs of its kind, everyone warming to the gracious hospitality of the charming hostess.

Supper Dance at Haleiwa.

A very jolly affair of the week took place on Tuesday when about twenty couples motored down to a supper dance at Haleiwa as the guests of Miss Jessie Kennedy and Mr. Stanley Kennedy. The Stanford baseball team was the raison d'être of the affair and all the decorations were in their college red. The guests were all seated at one long table down the center of which was spelled the word "Stanford" in red hibiscus. The places were marked by little hula girls in red dresses on a card. Scarlet carnation leis were at each guest's place as favors. After supper a rattling good quintet dispensed dancel music, and the guests tripped the light fantastic until a late hour. Among those present were Miss Gemma Wadman, Miss Marguerite Wadman, Miss Helen Spalding, Miss Myrtle Schuman, Miss Christiana Bradley, Miss Genevieve Bradley, Miss Elizabeth Searle, Miss Jessie Kennedy, Miss Mary O'Brien, Miss Hyde, Miss Margaret Center, Miss Sara Lucas, Miss Fanny Hoogs, Mr. and Mrs. Gullford Whitney, Messrs. Wilcox, Cass Argabrite, Belger, McCourt, McCloskey, Terry, Maple, Gragg, Halm, Workman, Gibb, Erling Hedemann, Stanatmaker, Thomas Grey, J. A. Kennedy, Chillingworth, and William Oulder Kirk.

Supper for Stanford Team.

An informal but delightful affair was given on Thursday night, when Mr. and Mrs. A. Lewis entertained at a Dutch supper in honor of the members of the Stanford baseball team. The decorations were all in the college red, poinsettias being used on the tables while large bowls of crimson hibiscus were placed about the rooms. The place cards were festooned with tiny red leis. After supper the guests "did stunts" and danced to the rollicking music of a graphophone. The hall home of the Lewis' makes an ideal setting for an affair of this sort. Among those present were Miss Helen Girvin, Miss Sara Lucas, Miss Helen Spalding, Miss Gladys Pearne, Miss Alice Macfarlane, Miss Bertha Kopke, Miss Florence Hoffman, Miss Christiana Bradley, Miss Genevieve Bradley, Miss Katherine Jones, Miss Mary O'Brien, Miss Jessie Kennedy, Miss Elizabeth Searle, Messrs. Wilcox, McCourt, Maple, Stanley Kennedy, Beger, Terry McCloskey, Cass Gragg, Halm, Dent, Workman and Argabrite.

Engagement Announced.

John O'Shea entertained at a large card party on Tuesday at her home in Schofield Barracks. There were nine tables of bridge, many other ladies coming in for tea later. During the course of the afternoon the engagement was announced of Miss Ellis to Capt. Roger O. Mason, First Field Artillery, stationed at Schofield Barracks. Miss Ellis has been living with Mrs. O'Shea for a year or more, and the engagement—which does not come as a great surprise to their friends—is the culmination of a very pretty romance.

One of the largest and most attractive affairs of the week was the reception and dance given on Monday afternoon by Mrs. Francis Mills Swanzy and the Misses Nora and Rosamund Swanzy at their beautiful home on Manoa Road. The captain and officers of H. M. S. New Zealand were the guests of honor on the occasion and the contrary to the expectations of those who had prophesied that "cooling ship" would prevent their attendance, most of the ship's personnel were present.

There are few lovelier homes in Honolulu than that of the Swanzy's and it was indeed beautiful on Monday in its fete clothes of flowers and greens. Masses of these wonderful lilies that are almost flame color were arranged in jardinières about the drawing and dining rooms while fragrant bowls of delicate white roses adorned the tables. The lanais and other rooms were decorated with palms, branches of feathery bamboo and maidenhair fern, while brown-eyed coreopsis nodded from windows and side places. A really orchestra played throughout the afternoon, half concealed in a palm-covered bower in the upper lanai. The seductions of their syncopated music were so great that even the British officers succumbed to the enchantments and attempted the Turkey Trot and Tango—Prince George being among the first to try the razz-dance. Delicious refreshments of a kind to satisfy both the hot and the hungry were served during the afternoon a la buffet.

As the guests arrived they were met by Mr. Charles H. Judd, who conducted them to the receiving line. This was composed of Mrs. Swanzy, Mrs. Rentiers, wife of the British consul, Mrs. A. C. Farley, Mrs. E. H. Judd, the Misses Swanzy, and Miss Emily Farley. The coffee urn was presided over by Mrs. E. J. Timberlake, while Mrs. George R. Carter served tea, and Mrs. Gerrit P. Wilder and Mrs. Richard Ivers punch. Mrs. Ranney Scott and Mrs. Archibald Campbell also assisted. Mr. A. L. C. Atkinson was the official introducer and the speedy way in which every one became acquainted was splendid tribute to his skill in good fellowship and to the charming hospitality of the hostess.

Although the invitations stated from four to half-past seven, it was long after that hour when the affair came to an end, every one being reluctant to tear themselves away from the delightful afternoon. The masculine element—which always lends a zest to any reception—was in itself equally charmed by the informality of the affair and many enthusiastic comments were heard on all sides.

The gowns that were seen were most of them a tribute to the summer weather, though some very beautiful frocks with the genuine Parisian touch were worn.

Mrs. F. M. Swanzy was handsomely dressed in pongee embroidered with hawthorne blossoms. She carried a lovely bouquet of long-stemmed violets with this costume.

Miss Nora Swanzy wore an embroidered gown of delicate blue gauze over apricot colored satin.

Miss Rosamund Swanzy was frocked in chiffon of sunset pink shading to old rose, made with the accordion pleated effect which is so much in vogue.

Mrs. Richard Ivers wore a white lingerie frock with touches of blue. A large picture hat with a blue plume finished the toilette.

A very smart costume was worn by Mrs. John T. Myers. Brocade crepe meteor of the fashionable mustard color with touches of delft blue and maltese lace made up this attractive gown. With it she wore a child like hat of delft blue.

Mrs. Arthur B. Owens was in embroidered pongee with beautiful amber ornaments.

Miss Emily Farley wore pink charmeuse with an accordion-pleated overdress of chiffon, and Dresden roses.

Mrs. M. Macomb was handsomely gowned in white embroidered linen with garnitures of Irish chochet lace.

Miss Helen Spalding was charming in her dainty gown of pink chiffon and shadow lace with a big pink picture hat to finish the costume.

Mrs. Richard Cutts wore a becoming gown of white chiffon over satin, with touches of emerald green.

A very pretty frock of apricot colored charmeuse with bodice and trimming of shadow lace was worn by Miss Marjory Gilman.

A strikingly pretty costume was of peacock blue and emerald green chiffon with trimming of marabou fur.

Mrs. F. M. Swanzy's Reception

One of the largest and most attractive affairs of the week was the reception and dance given on Monday afternoon by Mrs. Francis Mills Swanzy and the Misses Nora and Rosamund Swanzy at their beautiful home on Manoa Road. The captain and officers of H. M. S. New Zealand were the guests of honor on the occasion and the contrary to the expectations of those who had prophesied that "cooling ship" would prevent their attendance, most of the ship's personnel were present.

There are few lovelier homes in Honolulu than that of the Swanzy's and it was indeed beautiful on Monday in its fete clothes of flowers and greens. Masses of these wonderful lilies that are almost flame color were arranged in jardinières about the drawing and dining rooms while fragrant bowls of delicate white roses adorned the tables. The lanais and other rooms were decorated with palms, branches of feathery bamboo and maidenhair fern, while brown-eyed coreopsis nodded from windows and side places. A really orchestra played throughout the afternoon, half concealed in a palm-covered bower in the upper lanai. The seductions of their syncopated music were so great that even the British officers succumbed to the enchantments and attempted the Turkey Trot and Tango—Prince George being among the first to try the razz-dance. Delicious refreshments of a kind to satisfy both the hot and the hungry were served during the afternoon a la buffet.

As the guests arrived they were met by Mr. Charles H. Judd, who conducted them to the receiving line. This was composed of Mrs. Swanzy, Mrs. Rentiers, wife of the British consul, Mrs. A. C. Farley, Mrs. E. H. Judd, the Misses Swanzy, and Miss Emily Farley. The coffee urn was presided over by Mrs. E. J. Timberlake, while Mrs. George R. Carter served tea, and Mrs. Gerrit P. Wilder and Mrs. Richard Ivers punch. Mrs. Ranney Scott and Mrs. Archibald Campbell also assisted. Mr. A. L. C. Atkinson was the official introducer and the speedy way in which every one became acquainted was splendid tribute to his skill in good fellowship and to the charming hospitality of the hostess.

Although the invitations stated from four to half-past seven, it was long after that hour when the affair came to an end, every one being reluctant to tear themselves away from the delightful afternoon. The masculine element—which always lends a zest to any reception—was in itself equally charmed by the informality of the affair and many enthusiastic comments were heard on all sides.

The gowns that were seen were most of them a tribute to the summer weather, though some very beautiful frocks with the genuine Parisian touch were worn.

Mrs. F. M. Swanzy was handsomely dressed in pongee embroidered with hawthorne blossoms. She carried a lovely bouquet of long-stemmed violets with this costume.

Miss Nora Swanzy wore an embroidered gown of delicate blue gauze over apricot colored satin.

Miss Rosamund Swanzy was frocked in chiffon of sunset pink shading to old rose, made with the accordion pleated effect which is so much in vogue.

Mrs. Richard Ivers wore a white lingerie frock with touches of blue. A large picture hat with a blue plume finished the toilette.

A very smart costume was worn by Mrs. John T. Myers. Brocade crepe meteor of the fashionable mustard color with touches of delft blue and maltese lace made up this attractive gown. With it she wore a child like hat of delft blue.

Mrs. Arthur B. Owens was in embroidered pongee with beautiful amber ornaments.

Miss Emily Farley wore pink charmeuse with an accordion-pleated overdress of chiffon, and Dresden roses.

Mrs. M. Macomb was handsomely gowned in white embroidered linen with garnitures of Irish chochet lace.

Miss Helen Spalding was charming in her dainty gown of pink chiffon and shadow lace with a big pink picture hat to finish the costume.

Mrs. Richard Cutts wore a becoming gown of white chiffon over satin, with touches of emerald green.

A very pretty frock of apricot colored charmeuse with bodice and trimming of shadow lace was worn by Miss Marjory Gilman.

A strikingly pretty costume was of peacock blue and emerald green chiffon with trimming of marabou fur.

SOCIAL SCHEDULE FOR THE WEEK

Navy dance.
Mrs. Rentiers' reception.
Hawaiian afternoon.
Supper-dance at Haleiwa.
Bridge at Fort Ruger.
Supper for Stanford team.
Engagement announced.
Capt. and Mrs. Owens' dinner.
Mrs. Watkins' dinner.
Miss Young's dance.
Cricket Club luncheon.
von Holt swimming party.
Miss Eloise Wehman's supper.
Luncheon on Ford Island.
Miss McIntyre's dinner.
The princess entertained.
Mrs. Gossens' cricket tea.
Lieut. and Mrs. Huntington's bridge.
Miss Marjory Gilman's supper-dance.
Mrs. Eush's luncheon.
Smoker at the University Club.
Mrs. Cook's bridge tea.
Reception on the New Zealand.
Capt. Halsey's dinner.
Beach party at Waikiki.
Mrs. Hephurn's supper-dance.
Hosts at the navy dance.
Dinner for Masons.
Mrs. Clark's card party.

This worn by Miss Edith Williams with a smart blue hat to match.

Miss Sara Lucas wore a pink novelty cloth with a picture hat.

Mrs. George William Bailey wore a stunning suit of cream colored epona with touches of Alice blue. Her natty little hat of blue and white finished the costume.

Mrs. Bertha Kopke was most attractive in a gown of blue crepe de chine draped in panniers over a skirt of shadow lace. With this she wore a pretty little black toque.

Mrs. Walter Dillingham was beautifully gowned in white chiffon over satin with trimming of brown marabou fur.

Mrs. Bruce Cartwright wore a stunning gown of Irish crocheted lace over blue satin.

Miss Agnes Buchanan was dressed in blue satin with a picture hat to match.

Mrs. Alexander G. Hawes, Jr., was very attractive in her pretty white gown, with a smart black toque and a Spanish lace scarf.

Mrs. W. R. Gibson of Fort Shafter wore a charming little frock of pink chiffon with a small hat to match.

Miss Myrtle Schuman wore a stunning gown of rose pink brocade made in panniers over black moire silk.

An attractive gown of black over king's blue with touches of orange on the bodice was worn by Miss Jessie Kennedy. A chic black hat with king's blue plumes finished the costume.

Miss Thelma Murphy was very attractive in her frock of white and blue and little bouquet.

Miss Laura Atherton wore a dainty dress of lemon yellow chiffon over satin.

Miss Beatrice Castle was in white with a hat of black and king's blue.

Mrs. Herbert Dowsett wore a charming frock of blue charmeuse over white.

Miss Violet Atherton was in white and delft blue.

Mrs. George R. Carter wore a handsomely embroidered dress of white linen.

Mrs. Samuel Gordon was in white and blue.

Mrs. E. J. Timberlake wore a cream-colored lace over blue satin with a pretty blue hat trimmed with American Beauty roses.

Marriage Announcement.

The following announcement was received this week by a hundred or more of the friends of Walter Kendall. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wayne Smith announce the marriage of their daughter.

Marie Elizabeth

to Mr. Walter Morrison Kendall on Monday, June the thirtieth Nineteen hundred and thirteen Denver, Colorado.

At Home

After August fifth Hotel Pleasanton Honolulu, Hawaii

Capt. and Mrs. Owens' Dinner.

A delightful dinner was given on Wednesday night by Capt. and Mrs. Arthur B. Owens at their home on Wilder avenue. A very pretty green and white color scheme was used for the occasion. After dinner, the guests motored to the Country Club where they attended the reception given for the officers of the New Zealand. Those present were Captain and Mrs. J. F. Janda, Lieut. C. L. Tinker, Miss Genevieve Tinker, Lieut. Charles Little and Miss Emilie Eleanor Owens.

SACHS'

Splendid Line of Latest Neckwear

Including Medici Collars, Guimpes and yokes. Fancy Colored Bows in a large variety of designs.

FROM 25c

Knit Silk Underwear

The "MERRILL" Brand. We purchase this high class garment direct from the manufacturers, which enables us to save for you "the jobber profit." Buy the Merrill here and buy it right.

EXTRA HEAVY

Turkish Bath Towels

Size 24x46; regular price $5.75 per doz. TO CLEAR, $3.75 PER DOZ.

AUGUST DELINEATOR

SACHS'

SPECIAL VALUES THIS WEEK

Gold Peanut Hats

Trimmed with Bulgarian and Fancy Silks (for the seashore and country). SPECIAL—75c EACH—SPECIAL

Kimonos and Lounging Robes

FOR THE WARM DAYS

We have just opened a shipment of crepe and silk lounging garments—all new designs, trimmed with messaline silk in contrasting colors.

PRICED FROM $2.00 to $10.00.

Nemo Corsets

A few pair of our last season's models at

HALF PRICE.

SACHS'

SACHS'

SACHS'

N. S. SACHS DRY GOODS COMPANY, LTD.